Known as “the town that friendliness built,” Lebanon lives up to its reputation with a year-round slate of community activities and recreational opportunities. From the Independence Day Star Spangled Celebration and Strawberry Festival in the summer to the annual tree lighting ceremony at Ralston Park in December, there’s always something in Lebanon for family and friends to do.

Life in Lebanon includes:

- World-class golf within minutes of downtown.
- Fishing and boating opportunities at more than a dozen nearby lakes, reservoirs and rivers.
- Recreational opportunities in the nearby Cascade foothills and mountains.
- A wide array of fine dining.
- Recreational paths and tree-lined parks throughout the community, and historic covered bridges nearby.
- One of the best stock car dirt tracks in the West.

A short drive to the east, the Cascade Mountains provide a recreation playground for campers, hikers, mountain climbers, skiers, photographers, naturalists and fishing enthusiasts.

With a population of 15,000 and growing, Lebanon retains a cozy small-town feel while offering plenty of chances to get out and enjoy life.
